Is This Gutenberg?

IS THIS THE MAN? Newly found bust of Gutenberg is different from other pictures of the first printer.

AP Newsfeatures
NEW YORK—Now that interest in Johannes Gutenberg is at high pitch, the Pierre Beres galleries here have come up with a bust of the first printer that has not been reported previously.
Gutenberg is getting attention because American newspapermen are holding their annual Newspaper Week, Oct. 1 to 8. And the churchmen are having a week to observe the first publication of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible Sept. 28 to Oct. 1. News men regard Gutenberg as the first to print from moveable type and churchmen honor him for publishing the first printed Bible.
The bust was brought to America after the sale of the collections of an Italian nobleman, Marchese Banti. It is different from other pictures of Gutenberg. But no one is sure what he really looked like because there are no portraits of him made during his lifetime.
"This must be considered just one more guess as to how the man looked," the gallery managers say. It does tally with the descriptive details about Gutenberg. The forked beard is one such as he wore and the costume is what a man of his standing would have worn.
The bust is 30 inches high and 28 inches wide. Although they are sure the work is more than 100 years old, the owners do not know who did it or exactly what its date may be. Few critics have had a chance to see it, but the impression is that it is a work of some distinction.

Pulling Contest Is A Big Feature Of Youngsville Fair

Judging of horses featured the Friday sessions of the Youngsville Fair, together with the horse pulling contest, and the Fair closed Saturday night. Although there was a large crowd present on Friday evening, the general attendance was below par this year despite the fine array of exhibits.

In the teams in harness competition, awards were made as follows: Earl and Stanley Laurence, Warren, first; Clarence Davis, Townville, second; and L. A. Sutton, Pittsfield, third.

For mares, the Laurence Brothers were awarded first and second, third to M. O. Hetrick of New Bethlehem. In the gelding class, Mr. Hetrick's entry took first, second to Claude Lunn of North Bingham, Pa., third to Mr. Sutton.

There were 11 teams entered in the horse pulling contest for teams under 3,200 pounds, with winners as follows: John Messenger of North Clymer, N. Y., first, Mr. Lunn, second; Ted Kuntz of New Bethlehem, third, and Mitchell Brothers of Waterford, fourth. For teams over 3,200 pounds, Mr. Hetrick's team was first, Mr. Lunn's was second, Orrie Kibbey of Pittsfield, third, and C. W. David of Cowensville, Pa., fourth. There were seven entries.

Two Hospitalized Following Accident

City police were almost on the spot early Saturday morning when a one car accident on Conewango avenue sent two persons to Warren General Hospital where they were admitted.

Officers had stopped and were questioning a traffic violator when they heard a loud crash at 3:26 a. m. Hurrying to the scene, in front of 118 Conewango avenue, they found a car operated by William Price, of the Sittler House, and owned by G. H. Peterson, 27 Walnut street, wrapped around a large tree. Price and a passenger, Harnet Snyder, of Erie, were rushed to the hospital. Price sustained a severe laceration of the right hand, and his passenger was treated for fractured ribs, and lacerations of the chin and forehead requiring seven sutures. Both are in good condition today.

Police said the car was proceeding south on Conewango avenue when it swerved to the left and went over the curb, striking the tree. The vehicle was deemed a total loss.

Other than the accident, police put in a relatively quiet weekend, snagging one drunk on the east side, settling a fight at a local diner early Saturday, receiving many calls on stray dogs, finding too many doors of business places unlocked, and being called several times where residents complained of kids playing games and making too much noise.

Mayville Coroner Has Heart Attack On Investigation

Jamestown, N. Y.—Coroner H. Harry Hemstreet, 59, of Mayville, suffered a heart attack Saturday afternoon while investigating the shotgun suicide of Elmer C. Backman, prominent Westfield resident, and was taken to WCA Hospital, where he was reported at midnight in "fairly good" condition.

More trouble was added when a state trooper's car, conveying Hemstreet to the hospital, was in collision with one driven by a Jamestown man later arrested for failing to give a police vehicle the right of way.

The body of Backman, 54, of Forrest Park, Westfield, was discovered by a searching party of state police and Westfield firemen about 3:30 p. m. in a wooded area on the Alton Nickerson farm, off Parker Road and 17-J, Town of Chautauqua.

According to officers, Backman shot himself in the head apparently on Sept. 5, the day he was reported missing by a brother, Walter Backman. A renting agent for Forrest Park, a summer resort, for the past 25 years, he was reported to have been in ill health and despondent for the past year.

The scene of the suicide was the area where the Backman brothers were accustomed to going hunting, and about one-fourth of a mile from where he had left his car on the Parker Road.

Hemstreet, who issued a verdict of death by suicide, was stricken with a heart attack about 5:30 p. m. while he was investigating at the scene. Deputy Emmett Franklin administered oxygen to the coroner before he was brought to the Jamestown hospital.

The car accident happened about 7:40 p. m. at the intersection of Fifth and Main streets when the head convoy car collided with a vehicle driven by Gerald Peck, 20, of 49 Ellis Avenue, Jamestown. Peck was arrested on a warrant sworn out by the trooper driver for failing to give a police vehicle the right of way, and released on $25 bail.

NEW SPARTA WELL MAKING 3 BARRELS

About 50 requests have been made by residents of the Spartansburg section that oil wells be drilled on their properties as the result of the successful shooting of a well a mile south of the town on Friday. Thirty-six quarts of nitroglycerine was used by Fred Burt of the Petroleum Explosives Co., Pleasantville, to shoot the well and it is described as a three-barrel-per-day producer, considered good in this section.

Henry Ongley of Grand Valley, the driller, was still cleaning the well today. Ten gallons of good crude came up when the bailer was first used. Albert Hahn of Spartansburg, secretary and treasurer of the locally-owned company, said today that a new well will be drilled on the Blakeslee property as soon as the equipment can be moved.

"BIG JIM MCLAIN"
AT LIBRARY THEATRE
John Wayne, following recent success in a picture called "The Quiet Man," is far from quiet in his latest adventure epic, "Big Jim McLain," the Wayne Fellows production for Warner Bros., today and Tuesday at the Library Theatre. Beautiful Nancy Olson provides the romance and James Arness also stars in this rugged outdoor drama, the first modern motion picture story filmed in Hawaii and featuring Dan Loo, head of Honolulu's internationally famous police department.

Some of the major sequences of the picture were shot at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel, Honolulu's world known hostelry, while other scenic highlights were recorded against a background around the pool of Edgewater, the Outrigger Canoe Club where the fabled Hawaiian beach boys and the sportsmen of the islands stage their wondrous surf board riding and canoeing exhibitions. Other highlights are an actual Shinto temple, the Chinatown waterfront, and a wealth of the natural, beautiful and rugged scenery.

"Big Jim McLain," directed by Edward Ludwig, features John Alan Napier in the cast.

Local Real Estate Concern Plans To Erect Number of Model Homes in Warren Area

Red above is one of several of the models of the National Homes to be built in and near Warren which construction work is scheduled to start on Conewango avenue in the near future. Daugherty & Beers Ent., sales agents for Merle T. Wolfe & Sons, builders, stated that the homes will be located on individual lots throughout the city as well as lots to be purchased by the builders for such uses.

Construction is scheduled to start early next week on the first large number of new homes built in Warren and surrounding areas, it was disclosed by the real estate firm of Daugherty & Beers Enterprises. The firm said they have been selected to sell the nationally known National Homes to be built by Merle T. Wolfe & Sons, builders, who hold the exclusive franchise for the homes in Warren area.

The homes are assembled in panel sections having been planned and cut in the main factories at Lafayette, Indiana and the eastern plant at Horseheads, N. Y. Homes for Warren will be shipped from the latter.

All National Homes are designed for beauty and livability, it was stated, and are of the one-story Cape Cod and "ranch" type—the most popular as well as the most efficient style of house. They come in many floor plan arrangements and outside designs.

The local real estate men said because of the wide choice of styles, National Homes are not "look-alikes". The models may be had in either weatherboarding or shingle finish. An unlimited variety of color schemes is offered.

The homes may be given even more individuality by adding a porch or breezeway and a garage if desired.

It was pointed out that living rooms in the homes are spacious ranging in length from 16 to 28 feet. Kitchens are planned for step-saving convenience. Ample closet and storage space is provided. The heating unit is located to supply warmth to all rooms.

The real estate representatives said the National Homes Corporation blazed the trail in the production of "engineered" homes. This has resulted not only in substantial savings for home buyers, but also in houses that are better able to withstand the most severe weather conditions and that they stay "new looking" outside and in.

While assembling of the homes will be done by Merle T. Wolfe & Sons, local contractors are being let for excavating, plumbing, electrical work, and local labor will be employed for the work. Daugherty & Beers Ent. will serve as exclusive sales agents for the homes.

The real estate firm said the house to be built on Conewango avenue for the model home is known as the "1953 Coronet". It is 24½ by 36½ feet in overall measurements, includes a living room 12' x 20' in addition to a dining "L", three bedrooms ranging in sizes from 9' x 12' to 10' x 12'; bath, kitchen, utility room and storage room.

The first model is to be built on a concrete slab, but persons who want basements in homes may have them. It is estimated that homes with basements will cost nearly $1,200 more than the same model without.

It is planned to build the homes here either on individual lots or on those to be purchased by the builders. At present time, the real estate firm stated it is interested in locating a group of lots within the borough limits or nearby where city water is now available.

"These homes are approved for GI and FHA along with conventional financing, and we have the assurance that there is ample mortgage money available for persons wanting a new National Home," the real estate firm announced.

The loans may be amortized in ten, fifteen and twenty years, it was stated.

"We have sold National Homes elsewhere in western Pennsylvania and we are confident Warren home-buyers will welcome the construction here because we believe there is a definite need for such in this area," the real estate firm concluded.

Other duties in which he has more recently engaged include the office of secretary of West Conference; co-chairman of the 1953 synodical Home Missions appeal; and election as delegate to the Seattle, Wash., convention of the United Lutheran Church in America October 8-15.

OVERCROWDED SCHOOLS

The U. S. Office of Education tells us that the country is short about 50,000 teachers and 50,000 classrooms for the important elementary grades in the months ahead. This revelation prompts Bruce Blossat, NEA Service editorial writer, to comment: "Since grade-school students do not vote, our politicians have been somewhat slow to attend to this problem." Then he continues:

There is nothing new about it. In its present acute phase, it has been foreseeable for some years. We are beginning to feel the impact of the tremendous World War II increase in the birth rate. The war babies are in school now, and there's not room enough.

Our world is crammed with problems, no doubt of that. It's perfectly understandable that, in such a welter of competing needs, we should have to de-pate long and hard about what comes first.

We can grasp that defense against a potential enemy takes priority over all. Highways, schools, hospitals, municipal facilities, all these accomplishments to national growth must fall in line behind defense preparations. But the question is: How far behind?

U. S. leaders plainly appreciate that there cannot be total neglect of these great public necessities on the domestic front. But it is questionable whether they have really grappled with the matter of what a proper minimum development is during such a period of "cold war" as we now are experiencing. A shortage of 50,000 classrooms means awkward doubling up or staggering of hours by many thousands of young American students. To solve the problem a decade hence will be of no advantage to these youngsters. Their opportunity for decent educational attention in the formative years is now—and only now.

Politicians seem rather callous to this aspect of the issue. They forget that a young pupil is not like an old piece of concrete pavement. You may neglect fixing the pavement at the peril of serious traffic consequences, but when you finally fix it properly you will have it as good as new.

But who is to say there is not some permanent loss to the child whose crucial early schooling is marred by cramped quarters, poor teaching and bad hours? The mind cannot be vulcanized like a highway.

When the 'lads among these kids reach drafting age, the politicians may suddenly become concerned over the prospect that "our boys" may be shipped to some foreign shore. It's a pity they don't worry more now about getting "our boys and girls" a good education so they'll become truly useful citizens. Maybe then we wouldn't fumble and blunder so much and get into situations where we have to siphon off our substance to defense on the grand scale.

Members of the Women's Auxiliary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce are to be commended for the success of their second annual Flower Show which attracted hundreds of enthusiastic patrons to the YMCA Annex Saturday afternoon between five and nine o'clock. The community owes a debt of gratitude to this progressive civic group for sponsoring this colorful treat each fall.

If the number of "Letters to the Editor" may be judged as a criterion regarding the concern shown by taxpayers generally in subjects to be discussed, tonight's meeting of the borough council will doubtless be as interesting as any that have been held in months.

The School Music Boosters' Club, aided by student musicians and the Weatherman provided residents a rare program of enjoyment Friday evening that will not soon be forgotten.

Citizens not already qualified to vote are reminded that on the last days of registration, September 11, 12 and 13, the office in the court house will be open from nine a. m. until nine p. m.

Here And There

It was fifty years ago this week, September 11, 1902, as a matter of fact, when the dancing season ended at what was then the famous Irvinedale Park, as announced in an Evening Times article which said:

The dancing season will come to an end at Irvinedale Park this evening when the final dance of the summer will be held. This evening the illustrated songs will be given at 8:30, and on Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:30, weather permitting, there will be a band concert.

The season this year has been the hardest in the history of the park, the continued cold and wet weather putting an effectual damper upon out-door amusements of all kinds.

The greatest crowd was handled on Independence Day when the Street Railway Company transported over 25,000 persons, a large percentage of whom had Irvinedale as an objective point.

The next largest crowd was at the public wedding, when 4,000 persons visited the grounds. The semi-weekly dances and Sunday concerts have been well attended and proved very enjoyable. On account of bad weather the vaudeville entertainment early in the season did not do a paying business.

The management has in view several improvements for next season. The old stumps that are anything but beauty spots will be removed. A larger and better lighting plant will be installed, a landscape gardener will be employed to beautify the grounds, several new buildings will be erected, a more varied and continuous class of entertainment will be offered, it is possible that the street car terminal will be changed so as to loop the track about the dance and theatre auditorium and other alterations made.

Terse, Tart and Timely: It is a little late to apologize for the error made in this column Friday when we stated that Corry would furnish opposition against the Dragons at War Memorial Field Saturday, but it is consoling to realize that those grid fans who may have been misled by the item, if they did go to the field, at least were entertained with some sport furnished by the practice games. . . . Only Northern Editors Think GOP Can Crack Solid South

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Answers to half a dozen riddles will determine the result of the 1952 presidential election campaign. These are the riddles, all of which have been put to the 700 U. S. newspaper editors receiving this column for a national political poll. What Southern states will Republicans be able to carry, if any? Will Taft Republicans support Eisenhower, or not vote? Will the Dixiecrats support the Democrats, or Eisenhower? Will Northern Negro majorities vote Democrat or Republican? Which farm policy plank has the greatest appeal to rural voters? What are the determining issues for the independent voters who hold the balance of power to swing the election one way or the other? A fourth of the editors replying to this questionnaire believe the GOP will carry no Southern states. These editors come mostly from the Southeast, the Southwest and the border states of the Midwest, are most familiar with local politics. It is the editors of the North who think the Solid South can be cracked.

Thirty-four per cent of the editors believe the GOP will take Texas and the highest Republican hopes are on the Lone Star state. Twenty-two per cent think Virginia will go Republican, 15 per cent pick Florida, 8 per cent South Carolina, 7 per cent Louisiana.

In the South itself, 31 per cent of the editors think Texas might go Republican, 16 per cent pick Virginia, 13 per cent Florida and South Carolina, 10 per cent Louisiana, 7 per cent Mississippi, the rest scattered at less than 5 per cent.

A fourth of the editors—nearly all in the North—declined to answer the third question for lack of information.

Of those who did reply, 55 per cent said the Dixiecrat majority would vote Democratic. Fifteen per cent thought there would be a heavy like vote in the South. Only 3 per cent of the editors thought Dixiecrats would stay away from the polls in protest.

On the reverse question in the North—Will Taft Republicans support Eisenhower?—the answer is overwhelmingly "yes" by from 85 to 100 per cent of the editors.

Forty-one per cent of the editors thought the Negro majority would vote Democratic as they have in the last three or four national elections. Southern editors expressed this point of view two-to-one over Northern editors. Only 16 per cent of the editors—none in the South—look for a swing to the Republican ticket.

ON the major issues of the campaign, editors lined up like this:

- | | |
|----------------------------------|-------------------------|
| 68% Corruption in government | 16% U. S. Communism |
| 57% Opposition to Korean war | 14% Farm policy |
| 45% High taxes and fiscal policy | 11% Civil rights |
| 44% President Truman's record | 9% Unbalanced budget |
| 30% Inflation | 9% Foreign aid spending |
- Another 6 per cent of the editors thought military spending was a major issue but only 2 per cent seemed worried about China policy. Asked to write in any other issues they considered important, 7 per cent thought present prosperity was an important factor. But only 5 per cent listed "the need for a change."
- Since the farm vote swing to President Truman was held largely responsible for his victory in 1948, this issue is weighted far more important in the farm belt than the 14 per cent rating above would indicate.
- Forty-three per cent of the editors in this poll thought the Republican farm policy plank better, to 31 per cent favoring the Democratic platform. Only in the South was the Democratic program the favorite, 59 per cent to 17 per cent.

THE MARKETS

New York (AP)—The stock market was thoroughly mixed today in a narrow range.

Prices barely moved from their previous close, and many leaders held unchanged to an eighth either way for considerable periods.

The opening was slow and there was little of a marked character about volume after that.

Rails, steels, and motors all were mixed with the motors holding unchanged to an eighth lower most of the time. Other major divisions of the market could be called mixed to steady.

Among higher stocks were Santa Fe, Nickel Plate, American Telephone, American Smelting and Du Pont. Lower were Union Pacific, Sinclair Oil, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Anaconda Copper, and Zenith Radio.

Corporate bonds were mixed at the start.

The word "nerve" originally meant tendon, but now refers to the structures through which the brain sends messages to the body, including much of the brain itself.

NUMBER EMERGENCIES TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Six patients were treated at Warren General Hospital emergency ward during the week end, one being admitted after treatment. Kenneth Whitney, 230 Walnut street, employed at DeLuxe Metal Products, suffered traumatic amputation of the left index finger in an accident Friday. He was admitted after repairs to the hand. Also on Friday, Russell Gustafson, 105 Levee street, employed at Crescent Furniture Company, sustained a laceration under the left eye when a board flew out of a planing machine and struck him; Lloyd Larkworthy, of Morristown, N. J., visiting in Warren, sustained a fractured left wrist when he fell from a bicycle; and Guy Stokes, of Clarendon, sustained a crushed left thumb when a pole fell on it. They were all discharged after treatment. Yesterday, Doris Brecht, North Warren, suffered a laceration of the right index finger requiring five sutures, sustained while washing dishes; and Robert Merkle, of Tidouette, was treated for a laceration of the right arm, sustained when cut on a power saw at home. Both were discharged after treatment.

Kindergarten Is What Makes or Breaks Man in Later Life, Hal Boyle Opines

By HAL BOYLE
New York (AP)—Kindergarten is what makes or breaks a man. Millions of future little American husbands, trudging to school for the first time, will learn that this month.

A kindergarten is a "garden of children." But it is also a wilderness where small two-legged bits of protoplasm-part elf, part demon, part angel—speed up their sad and wonderful information into human being.

It separates the boys from the girls, and sets them forever upon their separate paths. There a young fellow will meet and have to try to cope with all the adventures he will encounter in later life—love and loss, victory and disaster, achievement and failure, pride and fall, and golden friendship, ever betrayed, ever rekindled.

That these adventures are small-scale makes them no less affecting to the half-pint denizens of this classroom. A mouse gets as much fun from a piece of cheese as an elephant does from a ton of hay, and a headache hurts him as much.

So it is with children. The kindergarten which seems to envious grownups a lost Eden is to the small fry a kind of battlefield. The wounds they receive there are immortal: First scares are longest remembered.

Looking back on my own kindergarten days, however, I find that is the only period of my life I would truly wish to relive. This is not because it was an altogether happy time, for it was not that. I don't recall weathering any despair deeper than I knew at one time or another in kindergarten. Nor reaching any higher peaks of joy.

The fine thing then was that any emotion I went through had a poignancy never attained later. I savored even my moods of despondency almost as much as my rainbow pleasures. A child enjoys his self-pity because he feels nobody in the history of the world has been so put upon. When he grows older he knows this isn't so, and that robs him of most of the fun of feeling sorry for himself.

In college a fellow picks up a lot of detailed knowledge, but it is in kindergarten that he learns the basic principles that will guide him through life.

WESTPORT LANDING
By Homer Hatten
Chapter 17

CLAY chuckled. "You seem almighty sure that I'm going to find your treasure for you. I might not be able to locate it at all. Has that occurred to you?"

Sally tossed her head impatiently. "Nonsense. Of course you'll find it. We've got the map. Haven't we? But that's not what I meant, anyway. I mean I'm going to make money—lots of it—right here in Westport."

Clay gave her a quizzical look. "And just how do you intend to go about it? It takes money to make money, you know."

"Yes of course. And I have some money. André had his money belt all ready for his trip the night of the fire, and I managed to save it. I think I have just about enough."

The smile left Sally's face and he opened his mouth with an expression of incredulous dismay, but before he could form any words she went on excitedly.

"I was talking with some people down at the levee yesterday, and they said there's a river steamer for sale—the Missouri Maid. The owner died a few weeks ago and they've been looking for a buyer. It's not a new boat, by any means—I suppose that's why nobody's bought it yet—but there's a lot of life in it yet, and a lot of money to be made from it. The men at the levee said they knew the traders would take any reasonable offer, and grant long-term notes on the rest. I think two thousand dollars is a reasonable offer, don't you?"

Clay grabbed her roughly by the arm and scowled down into her animated face. "Just a minute, Sally," he said harshly. "Are you telling me that you have two thousand dollars in cash?"

She twisted impatiently from his grasp. "Yes, Clay, I told you. It was in André's money belt. It's a little over two thousand, in fact."

"And you let me go in debt for two thousand dollars to outfit this expedition to search for your treasure, when you had that much in cash all the time?" His voice was coldly, dangerously low.

Sally's face instantly assumed an expression of hurt bewilderment. "Oh, Clay," she said, "how can you talk to me like that? What else could I do, darling? After all, I'm a widow, and I'll be all alone here when you go on the trail." Her voice choked a little, and she turned her head from this thing, darling. I didn't want you to get discouraged. And Clay, that you may not find the treasure, and—"

"And you very caustically said that was nonsense," he reminded her angrily.

She lifted moist eyes to his and said with a brave little smile, "I was just trying to give you faith in this thing, darling. I didn't want you to get discouraged. And Clay, that you may not find the treasure, and—"

"The scowl did not leave his face," he better," he said shortly. "By God, Sally, if you've got me into debt for nothing, I'll be damned. But darling," she exclaimed, her eyes wide. "You said yourself that you were going into the Santa Fe trade even before you knew about the treasure. And even if you don't find it, you'll still have the profit from all the things you'll sell from the wagon. You can pay off your debt to Mr. Bingham and still have plenty left. Isn't that what Burl said? So it really isn't any risk for you, Clay. But if I put all my money in your outfit, then I'd be here in Westport with nothing to do but live on." She advanced toward him and put both arms around his neck. "You do understand, don't you, darling?" she asked softly.

HE said nothing, staring stonily after her shoulder, holding himself stiffly within the soft circle of her arms. She drew one hand slowly, gently across the back of his neck and then trailed it lightly down his back and again to his neck. She could feel his involuntary shiver.

"I know how dangerous it would be for a woman here alone without any money," he told her. "Clay," she said softly. "I didn't want anything to happen that could possibly come between us. You mean so terribly much to me, darling."

She could feel the rigidity go out of his body in the warmest way.

Chapter 18
WESTPORT speculated skeptically as to whether or not a woman, even such a woman as Sally, could survive the ruthless competition of the older and more experienced American traders. But it was a topic that soon lost its tang in the more important business of equipping the wagon trains and starting them on their long trek to Santa Fe.

Clay and Burl were ready to leave, and in anticipation of Clay's absence, Sally rented a cabin a few miles south of Westport. There, with the help of Rebecca, the house servant she had taken over with the cabin, she proposed to wait for Clay's return while she occupied herself with the operations of the Missouri Maid.

Now, on the eve of Clay's departure, it was time to say goodbye, here in the solitude that surrounded Sally's cabin, here in the silence of the warm spring night. The too short hours had spun themselves away into nothingness, leaving only this final moment that could hold nothing but farewell.

It was no time for tears, and in any event they were not made for tears. But Clay was frowning a little as he tightened the leather buckle on Kentucky's saddle and turned back to Sally.

"I hate to leave you here alone," he hesitated. "If you need anything, there's always Bingham."

She laughed softly, reassuringly. She had begun too many precarious journeys herself not to know that the traveler lags who carries both the past and the future in his pack.

"Don't forget the Missouri Maid, darling," she said lightly. "I'm a woman of property now—and I'll always be all right. I'll call friends. She moved forward into his arms, smiling up at him. "Don't worry about me, Clay. Just take care of yourself. You've got a treasure to find."

"I've got a fine treasure here," he then he turned away and swung himself into the saddle. He lifted a hand in farewell and pulled Kentucky's head around toward the trail. When he looked back her slim figure was already faintly visible in the white mist of moonlight. But he felt that he reached him like a clear bell chiming in the night.

"Good-by, darling! Good-by. I'll be waiting when you come back again!"

THEY had been two weeks on the trail and Westport was 140 miles behind them when they pulled into Council Grove. Like an oasis in the desert, the Grove's heavy growth of maple and hickory, oak, elm, and ash, offered welcome succor from the blazing, scorching sunlight that had drenched them on the plains.

There were men gathered there of every degree and every race: Mexican teamsters, strange and exotic in wide-brimmed sombreroes and brilliant serapes; taciturn Indian hunters with shaved heads or with long, coal-black hair swinging in braids about their shoulders; American traders and adventurers, hard, obstinate, opinionated men, with tempers held on hair-trigger tensions; lighthearted French-Canadians; an occasional lady of quality traveling west with her husband in a well-sprung, carefully curtained carriage; laughing, French and Mexican women, squaws, trappers, Negroes, soldiers—all in a boiling, bubbling, dream-driven melange of humanity that had come pouring into the West to find fame or fortune or, perhaps, forgetfulness in the empty prairies and sheer-walled canyons of this new, unredemptible, magically enchanted land.

Clay and Burl rode a little ahead of the double line of wagons they had brought from Westport, and as they came into the shadows of the Grove men stopped their work or their endless discussions or their friendly greetings and rough warnings to the train that was pulling in.

"We'll get down near the center of the Grove and near the creek," said Burl. "Handy to wood and water and more protection against the rain if it happens a storm whips up."

The wagons followed them in a long, curving line, moving between the established camps and the crackling cooking fires to the accompaniment of shouts and curses from the front and the long lashes of their whips flashed and snapped above the ears of their mules and oxen. The ground sloped gently down to the bank of the creek, and in an open spot only a dozen yards from its edge Burl directed the wagons into the hollow circle that would serve as both a corral and a fortress on the plains.

Men drifted up as they established their camp, some old friends of Burl's who were inclined to reminiscence of storms and stampedes and Indian attacks, others who were still unattached to any party and were seeking companions for the long trail to Santa Fe.

"Looks like you fellows got here just at the right time," one be-whiskered individual drawled from his reclining position beside the fire that McQuitty had built. "We got right onto a hundred wagons gathered up here now, and the boys are fixin' to hold an election to elect a train captain and a commander of the guard. Once we get that out of the way, I figger we'll be movin' right along."

Clay had fallen into conversation with another group that had wandered across from a nearby camping spot to sample the jug of whiskey that Burl had hospitably produced.

"I seen you clean Buck Royle's plover over to Westport," one of them volunteered. "As nice a way of layin' a feller out as I ever see, but I'd not stand there like you done while he run at me with that knife."

"It's as bad as it looks," Clay explained. "Actually, the whole thing's a matter of practice. It took me a long time to learn how to do it."

"Reckon so," agreed the other. "Only trouble is a man's likely to get kilt a half dozen times afore he gets it learned. He paused regarding a way speculatively. "Buck and his two brothers are camped over on Yoker side of the grove," he said noncommittally.

Busy Meeting Held By Catholic Group To Start Schedule

A tentative schedule for the coming year, outlined by the activities committee, was presented to members of Court Warren No. 834, Catholic Daughters of America, at the first fall meeting of the organization in the YWCA activities building.

Mrs. Francis Kotmair, grand regent, conducted the business session. Standing committee for the coming year are: Publicity, Mrs. Ben Malec; sick, Mrs. Gerald Lindberg; Mrs. Frank Peters; Mary Mills; activities, Mrs. Marcel Prigent, chairman.

The regent gave an interesting report on the national convention which she attended at Lake Placid, N. Y., in July. Some of the officers attended the annual retreat at Mercyhurst College in Erie the weekend of August 22-24 and gave fine reports of their trip.

It was brought to the attention of members that the week of September 28-October 4 has been set aside as National Bible Week.

The court decided to have a regular Communion Sunday, September 14, each member to receive communion at her respective church.

It was also voted by members that the court should purchase a mimeographing machine for printing letters, notices, etc., for the membership.

Rudolph Choun, of Flowerland Greenhouse, was speaker for the evening, having as his subject "Flower Arrangement". He demonstrated by making three beautiful centerpiece, explaining, as he went along, the care and arranging of flowers and greens. A question and answer period followed, with the demonstration proving both entertaining and educational. Mr. Choun presented Mrs. Kotmair with a corsage which he "whipped up", as he expressed it, in a matter of a few moments. His floral arrangements were then awarded to Mrs. Michael D'Angelo, Mrs. George Cunningham and Mrs. H. J. Long.

Mrs. Lida Barnhart won the attendance prize for the evening.

Following the meeting, lunch was served by the chairmen, Mrs. John Mullaup, Mrs. Andrew Slatry, Miss Lydia Fox, and their committee.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Probst

Youngville Evangelical United Brethren church was the scene of a pretty late summer wedding Saturday, September 6, when Shirley Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie R. Peterson, of that place, became the bride of George A. Probst, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Probst, Clarendon.

The Rev. Harold V. Lindquist, pastor, read the double ring service at 2:30 p. m., in a setting of palms, glads and candelabra, with white bows marking the family pews. Traditional organ music was played by Treva McKinney, with Jack Haight singing "Because", "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white satin and lace, with nylon yoke in a fitted bodice, lace collar and trim extending over the sleeves, matching lace panels in redingote style over the full skirt, which ended in a full court train. A crown of orange blossoms held her veil and a white orchid with streamers topped her white Bible.

Mrs. Charles Denard, as her sister's matron of honor, wore coral lace and taffeta, with matching headpiece and carried turquoise and white pom poms. Reversing the same shades in gowns and flowers, the bridesmaids were Janice Littlefield, Bradford, and Patricia Colbert, Garland. As flower girl for her aunt, Karen Peterson, Youngville, wore a long white frock, with a wreath of flowers in her hair, and carried a basket of white, coral and turquoise blossoms.

Dr. Robert A. Probst was his brother's best man and ushers were Douglas Peterson, brother of the bride, and Harvin Hulings, Warren.

Mrs. Peterson chose a green suit with brown accents and Mrs. Probst was in plum color, with gray accessories.

Tapers and greens, with floral bouquets, formed a setting for the five-tier cake which featured the bride's table for the reception following immediately in the church parlors. Mrs. Harold Peterson served the cake; Mrs. Elwood Peterson and Mrs. R. A. Probst poured; Anita Mourer, Youngville, and Joan Littlefield, were aides.

The guest list of 175 included relatives and friends from Bradford, DuBois, Clarendon, Warren, Irvine, Garland, Jamestown, Kane, Sheffield, Lancaster, Lottsville and Ridgway.

Leaving later for a southern wedding trip, the couple will return September 11, to make their home at 206 West Main street, Youngville. The bride traveled in a rose suit and navy accessories. Graduate of Youngville High in 1950 and employed by the New Process Company, the bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Denard and Miss Colbert, with Mrs. Jeanne Probst entertaining for the rehearsal party.

Mr. Probst, alumnus of Warren High in the Class of 1949, is employed by the DeLuxe Metal Furniture Company, Warren.

People Become Brighter With the Maturing Years

"I'd like to be smarter than I am," a young girl confides in a letter to this column.

Don't worry, Dorothy, you will be. But you'll never be as smart as you wish you were. Nobody ever is. At 20 you'll think, "If I had only known at 16 what I know now, how much easier high school would have been. How many more friends I would have had. How much more I would have gotten out of my classes. How much less shy I would have been."

At 30 you'll think how many fewer mistakes you would have made at 20 if you had known then what you know at 30.

IGNORANCE IS REVEALED IN RETROSPECT

AND so it will go all through life. You'll keep learning and growing and maturing. But looking back on any age you'll always see you didn't know quite enough to make your life as happy and as successful and as complete as you might have.

Every woman wishes she were smarter, Dorothy. Nobody is ever really wise enough.

So don't worry. Just keep on learning as you live. There are so many ways to learn through successes and mistakes, through studying yourself and other people, tackling the jobs you fear, trying to help others and through letting others help you.

The ways are endless. So you'll be smarter than you are when you've lived longer than you have.

The only thing is, there's no quick or easy way of gaining wisdom. There's no magic formula any one can hand you for the asking to make you suddenly smarter than you are.

But in time you will be, for you have the one necessary quality: You want to know more than you do.

1775, FORT TICONDEROGA under Patriot Occupation.

AP Newsfeatures

THE CONSTRUCTION of this fortress was commenced in 1755, when Canada belonged to the French. It was held by them until 1759, when Sir Jeffrey Amherst captured it for the British. At the outbreak of the Revolution, the British still held it with a small garrison. It occupied a strong position at the junction of Lakes George and Champlain.

One night in May, 1775, Col. Ethan Allen, with his Vermont Green Mountain Boys and a few volunteers from Massachusetts and Connecticut surprised the sentinels on guard and captured the fort without bloodshed. This victory greatly encouraged the American Army and furnished it with sorely needed arms and ammunition.

The fort is now visited by many tourists and has a museum, containing relics of the French and Indian and Revolutionary Wars.

GROUPS WORK IS IMPORTANT THROUGHT AREA

The 1952 Warren Field and Stream Club Annual Field Day will be held at Wilder Field, Irvine, Pa., on Sunday, September 21, beginning at 12 noon. This event provides education and fun for the entire family. It is a gala day for 8,000 to 10,000 sportsmen and their friends. No entrance charge is made, all parking, entertainment and exhibits are free.

Free entertainment this year will consist of fancy and skilled shooting by Fred L. Soisson, Hastings, Pa., who is a nationally known expert with the rifle, revolver and shotgun. He was exhibited at the New York World's Fair by John Hix and was the first Pennsylvania State Skeet Champion to gain that title with a perfect score of 100x100. His feats with firearms are truly amazing. Archie Lobdell, Greene, N. Y., the New York State Chopping Championship holder will demonstrate spectacular precision axe throwing, speed and precision chopping, bow saw log sawing and other feats of skill with the ax, rifle and saw.

There will be ten ponies to ride—five hours of free riding for the kiddies. Free music will highlight the moments between events. Free exhibits of live native wild animals, live fish, live ranch-raised mink, live birds, and exhibits of forestry products, game, food plants and shrubs, Indian artifacts and other items of interest to sportsmen will be displayed. A midway of games of skill from Bingo to Pitch for a Dish and special contest arrangements for those who wish to shoot with pistols, rifles and shotguns will be available.

Dart throwing games, a complete archery layout, plug and fly casting contest and practically any game of skill. Interest young and old will be on the field. This year there will be a Ferris wheel for those who like to ride up and over and around. Good food can be purchased at the famous Fox Hole Inn, and refreshments from pop and ice cream, root beer and popcorn stands will keep everyone inwardly happy.

What this club has done, is doing, and will do with the money it raises is on record. Their worthwhile conservation projects have become too numerous to name. By Overcoming Its Fright Of Hook, Guiffre Softball Team Can Still Win Local Series

Guiffre's Grocery bowed down to Thomas Coupling in the second game of the Industrial Softball League playoffs at the West Side Field Friday night and was shut out, 11-0, by Phil Hook's no-hit pitching.

In losing their second straight game of the best out of five series, Guiffre's played their worst game of the season and allowed 10 unearned runs come in on nine mistakes. With this type of playing by the first-half champs, tonight's contest at the State Hospital may well wind up the championship in Thomas Coupling's favor.

Guiffre's may have been off form in Friday's fray, but Hook was well up to par and in addition to his no-hit hurling, he fanned 19 men and acquired two hits. Gerry Littlefield also had two safeties, but M. Kiser was the big man with three tags in four trips to the plate.

Bob Harrison was the losing moundman.

Pennant Keys Held By Roe and Lopat; Cleveland Climbs

By JOE REICHLER
Sports Writer

The left arms of Eddie Lopat and Preacher Roe are counting a lot toward the major league championships.

Each turned in important victories yesterday as the flag fever continued to mount with each game.

Lopat, the 34-year-old southpaw from Arkansas, pitched New York to a 5-1 victory over the Senators in Washington to stave off Cleveland's bid to pick up appreciable ground on the world champions. The Indians, however, did cut the Yankees' first-place American League margin to two games with a 4-0 and 3-1 sweep of a doubleheader from the Browns in Cleveland.

Roe, also a 34-year-old veteran and an Arkansian, threw a brilliant three-hitter at New York as Brooklyn came through with a 4-1 triumph that snapped the Giant's five-game winning streak and increased the Dodgers' first-place National League lead to five games.

Lopat hurled an eight-hitter yesterday and was credited with his eighth win on the strength of a grand slam home run by pinch hitter Johnny Mize. The blow came in the sixth and erased a 1-0 Washington advantage.

Roe's victory proved a gigantic morale booster for the slump-ridden Dodgers. They had dropped six of their last seven.

Roe needed help, of course. It came from the booming home run bats of Gil Hodges, PeeWee Reese, George Shuba and Billy Cox.

The Indians received splendid pitching from Mike Garcia and Steve Gromek as they registered their fourth and fifth consecutive triumphs. Garcia blanked the Browns on six hits to post his 9th victory in the opener and his fifth shutout. Cleveland got four hits off Gene Bearden but bunched two of them along with two walks to score three times in the first inning. Luke Easter's triple was the big blow.

Another three-run outburst, this time in the third, won the second game. Wally Westlake's wind-blown fly fell for a double to clear the clogged bases.

The Red Sox continued to plaster the left field wall of Boston's Fenway Park, smashing the Philadelphia Athletics, 12-3. Boston's 12-hit attack included homers by Hoot Evers and Don DiMaggio and a three-run double by Johnny Ligon.

Ted Gray won his 12th as the tail-end Detroit Tigers turned back the Chicago White Sox, 4-2. Outfielder Johnny Groth drove in two runs.

The third-place St. Louis Cardinals, who continue to cling to their outside chance to overtake both the Dodgers and Giants, came from behind to nip the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3. Enos Slaughter batted in all the Redbirds' runs with a bases-loaded triple in the eighth and a single in the ninth that brought over the winning run.

Bob Rush was the whole show as the Chicago Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 6-1. The tall pitcher hurled a four-hitter, struck out nine and batted in a run with one of Chicago's six doubles.

The Philadelphia Phillies nipped the Boston Braves, 2-1, after the Braves completed Saturday night's suspended game by winning, 3-1. The game, second of a two-night doubleheader, was called in the eighth because of curfew.

Through The Wind Tunnel

When the Marlin Rockwell baseball team, which has represented Warren State Hospital during the 1952 baseball season, was entertained at dinner, Saturday evening, following its win over Silver Creek, the players learned just what their efforts have meant to the patients. Joe Gardner, who arranges recreational entertainment for the patients, told the boys how important the games are, what the sport does for the many who attend the games. The players listened attentively, and afterward they remarked among themselves that they had been given an entirely new outlook. Mr. Gardner complimented the team on its work during the season, told the boys they were actually practicing therapy as members of a "healing team" for the patients.

Each player also was invited to speak, and all were pleased to have been able to play at State this year. Several of them took the opportunity to praise "Doc," a patient who handles the locker room, for his truly professional services.

The Marlin Rockwell team has been well received in Warren this year, has been admired as a young, hard-hitting, clean team. Officials, also guests at the Saturday dinner, said there was no team in the field for which they'd rather officiate. Tommy Hurst, the Marlin Rockwell lad who scored the winning run in the tenth, spent the weekend in Warren and said he had a grand visit.

Now we're down to brass tacks in this football business, with Corry due to open Warren's season here this Saturday. The locals, fast on the offense, will bolster their defenses during the week and a good game is expected.

This time we'll mention a beautiful bed of zinnias on Fourth avenue, just west of the Penny tracks, in the Janes yard.

Ray Reed got a good work-out at State Hospital field, Saturday, throwing to and receiving from Marlin Rockwell's big Lyle, back of third.

Word comes from Corry that the football fever epidemic has struck there and 1000 fans are expected to journey to Warren to see the Dragons and Beavers in their 1952 debut.

Coach Fred Bell put his boys through a scrimmage at War Memorial Field Saturday afternoon and will be busy this final week of pre-season practice pounding out the kinks. As in the past few seasons, the Beavers of Coach Lou Hanna will be tough, and the vet-

Marlin Rockwell's Nine Beats Silver Creek in the Tenth

Leading off in the bottom of the tenth, Tom Hurst smacked a four-bagger deep into center field to give Marlin-Rockwell an exciting 6-5 victory over Silver Creek, N. Y., at the State Hospital diamond Saturday afternoon.

The win chalked up number 41 for the Rollers against only seven defeats, a season record that any semi-pro ball club can well be proud of.

In acquiring this outstanding count, the Marlin-Rockwell team won the 1952 Chautauqua County and Penn-York League championships. Currently they are playing in the P-Y League post-season playoffs, the deciding game to be played against Sherman, N. Y., at the State Hospital next Saturday. The Oshkosh Indians were runners-up to the Rollers in the regular season.

OFFICERS ELECTED

Deac Lay was elected president and W. W. Lohnes, secretary, of the Bowlandmore Classic League, which will be rolling at the North Warren alleys on Monday evenings at 7 o'clock starting September 15. There is still room for another team in the league and those interested should call Mr. Lohnes at Youngsville, 5-3282, or the Bowlandmore, 8994.

Ole Sewanee Has Right Slant, Playing Football in Its Class

BY HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—In these days of high-pressure college football, the University of the South's brochure is refreshing. It's Ole Sewanee, long ago a power, is having a lot of fun and getting much good out of playing in its own class.

Here the coaching staff must depend entirely on the boys who come to Sewanee on their own. There are no athletic scholarships. Here the boys actually come out for the team, which is the way it was meant to be.

From the time Dr. Edward McCready, vice-chancellor and president, kicks off with the introduction, down through the thumbnail sketches, Sewanee's data booklet is like a breath of spring.

Footnotes on the Tigers are as different as the over-all plan. Where the big-time tub thumper builds up an all-things and all-that who eats nails for breakfast, Sewanee's C. E. Shotwell tells you, frankly, "We don't know much about this guy."

TYPICAL reports are:
Al Granning has the build and ability to make a good end. Dave Palmer's first venture at football in 1950 did not prove successful. In 1951 he improved remarkably. Little is known of Dave Lindholm's previous experience.

Captain-Tackle Jim Elam's father played for Sewanee in the early '20s. Andy Hiest is the only remaining fat boy among the old boys. Bill Gardner is light for a tackle, weighing only 165 pounds. It takes a lot of courage for 200-pound Tom Matthews to play.

After Zeke McDavid failed to return last autumn, and Caywood Gunby was hurt, George Barker did a steady job as blocking back weighing only 133 pounds. His father was one of Sewanee's better quarterbacks. Allan Farmer has never played.

Buddy Wilson is not exactly a Phi Beta Kappa, although he made a great comeback last spring, and passed enough work to remain in school despite a very poor first semester. Those who have seen Charles Woodcock, Jr., on sandlots say he has ability.

Sewanee has never turned down a boy due to lack of high school experience. The school has had the satisfaction of seeing unknowns leave with reputable football careers behind them. End foot notes. Historic Sewanee definitely has the right slant.

The latter two, because of unexpected delays, will undoubtedly meet next Saturday. Creal, defending club champion, will be the favorite.

CATCHER SETS ALL-TIME RECORD
Chuck Goodell, well-known catcher on the Marlin-Rockwell baseball club, has set a new all-time Chautauqua County batting average for a semi-pro ball player.

The young Jamestown, N. Y. boy and son of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Goodell, of Fairmount street, has batted .516 this season. This mark was aided Saturday when the stopper tagged Silver Creek for a round-tripper, one of three scored by his teammates.

In virtually all alphabets, the letter "M" stands in close conjunction to the letter "N".

Hoopie Dares All To Outpick Him

Here we have Major Amos B. Hoopie, of Our Boarding House, pounding out his astounding weekly football forecasts, which will appear on the sports page of the Times-Mirror.

He challenges readers to try to beat his predictions, and he comes up with systems that would defy Einstein's analysis. The Major is a Master of the Upset, a title he generously has bestowed upon himself—but some of the prognostications he makes really are out of this world.

Watch for the first story, in advance of the games of Sept. 20, and see if you can pick 'em better!

THE GREAT BETRAYAL!

WHEN THE 16TH AMENDMENT TO OUR CONSTITUTION (INCOME TAX) WAS DEBATED IN CONGRESS JOSEPH CHOATE, AN OUTSTANDING LAWYER, DENOUNCED THE AMENDMENT. HE ARGUED —
IF GOVERNMENT WERE GIVEN THE POWER TO TAX 2% OF THE PEOPLE'S INCOME, AT SOME FUTURE TIME THE GOVERNMENT COULD LEVY INCOME TAXES AS HIGH AS 50% OR 100%

BUT, SENATOR WILLIAM BORAH ASKED,
"WHO WOULD LAY THESE TAXES OF 50% TO 100%?"

BORAH ARGUED THAT NO GOVERNMENT IN THIS COUNTRY WOULD SINK TO SUCH DEPTHS OF FISCAL DEPRAVITY.

TRUSTING IN THE MORALITY OF GOVERNMENT,

CONGRESS PASSED THE 16TH AMENDMENT AND THE STATES RATIFIED IT. SINCE 1913, THERE HAS BEEN NO LIMIT ON THE TAX CONGRESS MAY LEVY ON YOUR INCOME!

IN LESS THAN 40 YEARS, THE COST OF OUR FEDERAL GOVERNMENT HAS INCREASED 5600% AND DURING THE SAME PERIOD, LOOK WHAT HAPPENED TO FEDERAL INCOME TAXES!

THE MORAL PURPOSE OF GOVERNMENT!

LIFE, LIBERTY, PROPERTY — these three gifts of God preceded all man-made laws and are superior to them.

So every individual has a right to protect these gifts against interference from any source whatsoever. If government is to have a moral purpose, it must protect these individual God-given rights for every person.

Therefore, the purpose of our government must be—

"TO MAKE AND ENFORCE LAWS WHICH PROTECT EVERY INDIVIDUAL'S GOD-GIVEN LIFE, LIBERTY AND PROPERTY FROM THE INTERFERENCE OF ANY OTHER INDIVIDUAL OR GROUP — AND THESE LAWS MUST ALSO PROTECT THE PEOPLE FROM GOVERNMENT ITSELF."

Since an individual cannot lawfully interfere with the Life, Liberty or Property of another individual, — then a moral government cannot lawfully interfere with the God-given Life, Liberty or Property of individuals or groups.

IN 1913, THE NORMAL INCOME TAX WAS 1% ON NET INCOME PLUS A SURTAX OF 1% TO 6% ON INCOMES OVER $20,000. IN 1950, THE TOTAL TAX HAD JUMPED TO 17% ON INCOMES AS LOW AS $2,000. AND THE RATE ON LARGER INCOMES INCREASED ON A GRADUATED SCALE AS SHOWN BELOW —

|------------------------|---------|-----------|---------|-------|-----------|-------|-----|
| ON INCOME FROM | $2,000 | INCLUDING | $4,000 | | 22% | | |
| " | " | " | 4,000 | " | 6,000 | | 26% |
| " | " | " | 6,000 | " | 8,000 | | 30% |
| " | " | " | 8,000 | " | 10,000 | | 34% |
| " | " | " | 20,000 | " | 22,000 | | 56% |
| " | " | " | 50,000 | " | 60,000 | | 75% |
| " | " | " | 100,000 | " | 150,000 | | 89% |
| ON INCOME IN EXCESS OF | | | | | $200,000 | | 91% |

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE TRUSTED THE GOVERNMENT WITH THE POWER TO TAX INCOMES NEVER DREAMING THAT THIS POWER WOULD BE SO MISUSED. THAT TRUST WAS BETRAYED!
OUR GOVERNMENT HAS SUNK TO THE DEPTHS OF FISCAL DEPRAVITY WHICH SENATOR BORAH THOUGHT IMPOSSIBLE — AND IT'S STILL SINKING!

STRANGE, isn't it, that a lot of people won't walk a few blocks to the polls to guard their freedom, when others are fighting for it. Yet, that's the case.

HALF THE PEOPLE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE DIDN'T CARE ENOUGH TO VOTE IN THE 1948 PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION

And the past 82nd Congress was voted in—to guide your destiny, and that of 155,000,000 Americans—by only 43.7% of the eligible voters.

WHO DECIDES what kind of taxes you'll pay, what kind of schools your youngsters will attend, how safe a community you'll live in? YOU DO—but only if you vote.

WHAT GOOD'S ONE VOTE? Getting good government is the biggest job in the world. One vote can't do it; but one vote multiplied by a million CAN. The only vote you can count on, though, is—your own.

And remember this: The fewer the votes, the closer we get to "government by the few"—a single class or a single party. And that's death for democracy and personal freedom!

There's one place where you guard your freedom. That's at the ballot-box. Be there next November. Vote for whom you please—but vote!

Three Accidents Are Investigated By The State Police

State police were called to investigate three accidents during the weekend, from which two persons were given hospital treatment, and property damage of $11,175 occurred.

Admitted at Warren General Hospital was George A. Lubold, 14 Glade avenue, who was operator of a car which rolled over several times about 11:45 p. m. Saturday on Route 59 near Devil's Elbow. Police said the car, which did not leave the roadway, skidded for quite a distance on its top.

Lubold sustained a badly lacerated right hand and ear, and a passenger, Fred Leonard, 18 Glenwood street, was treated for bruise. Lubold was admitted for further treatment. Damage to the car was estimated at $1,000.

Early Friday morning, a large truck-trailer loaded with coal and operated by Don McClain, of Eldred, left the road on Route 62 about 13 miles south of Warren and went over a bank. McClain was uninjured, but damage to the truck and its contents was estimated at $10,000.

Police said the operator told them he was proceeding toward Warren at the time, and missed the road in the heavy fog. The vehicle was owned by George Francisco, of Shippensburg.

Sunday, at 11 a. m., cars operated by Henry Kane, of Akeley, and Mrs. Elaine Johnson, of Colson, N. Y., collided on the Russell-Scandia road with about $175 in estimated damage, mostly to the New York car. No one was injured.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

WATCH YOUR TIMING AND FORGET WORRIES

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"How do you choose what to play for in this hand?" asks a Danbury correspondent. "When I played the hand, I won the first trick with the ace of clubs, drew trumps, and tried for a 3-3 club break. When this failed I led a diamond from dummy, hoping that East held the ace.

"He didn't, as you can see, and lead out four rounds of trumps, discarding a diamond from the dummy. The fourth trump does no particular good in this case, but South can well afford it, and it may persuade one of the opponents that he is being squeezed.

South next cashes the ace and king of hearts and enters dummy with the king of clubs to ruff a heart. If the queen of hearts drops, the slam is home.

If the queen of hearts does not drop, South leads his last club to dummy's queen in the hope that the suit will break 3-3. If so, the slam is home.

If South is unlucky both in hearts and in clubs, he has lost nothing, since he is in the dummy, and can now lead a diamond towards his king. Hence, he will make his slam if the queen of hearts drops, or if the clubs break or if the ace of diamonds is in the East hand.
